

Students of College of Mass Communication Organize the First Multimedia Festival

Students of the College of Mass Communication at Al Falah University organized the first festival activity for the Multimedia course on May 9, 2016. On that occasion all the productions carried out by the students throughout the semester of Spring 2015-16 were displayed.

The aim of such innovative activities is to give the opportunity to student to focus their creative energies in the right direction and also to create a favorable environment conducive to refine the talents of students of the College of Mass Communication. Through training and participation in the process of projects, in addition to finding opportunities to motivate students and encourage competition for excellence through encouragement and care the College is making a mark in the field of Mass Communication.
