Al Falah University is on the Right Path to Success

Al Falah University celebrated its success again! The high standard and quality education of Al Falah has been acknowledged by the global websites analysis indicator, "Webometrics" that has placed Al Falah University on the 14th place among all the universities in UAE.

The Executive Management joined all AFU team for the celebration. The Chancellor, Dr. Nouredine Atatreh commended the efforts made by the academic staff and administrative body for the success of the university since its establishment last year and until this moment.

Dr. Atatreh thanked all the members whose indefatigable services gave the university this status. He said, "I extend my sincere thanks to the team who planned this execution of promoting the AFU website through their efforts online and on ground. This struggle has spanned over one year in various departments by attracting faculty members with high efficiency, interaction with the community in addition to many other plans aimed at promoting excellence in various scientific and practical fields."

He further appreciated the members and said, "it is not surprising that the University has achieved this success. The efforts made by the faculty and administrative members, and particularly the Media Office, were so great that wonderful fruits of hard work are reaped and AFU has attained advanced classification among universities in the UAE, which is very well-deserved. This achievement of AFU is not the achievement to the top but now we are on the right path towards the success."

In the same context, Vice-President of Academic Affairs Dr. Samir Barghouthi said, "I congratulate all those in charge of this achievement in such a short period of time. We are encouraged by this achievement and now need to maintain the required level, which puts the university at the forefront of local and international universities."
